

Firework Party?

This is the time of year when we tend to set the sky ablaze with fireworks, and with even a relatively small box costing around £20-£30, even the most modest display is likely to set you back quite a bit. Many of us will attend public events, which again can easily cost £5-£10 a head to get in, and that's before we buy the hot-dogs and coffee. One professional company reckon it costs around £100 per minute to put on a decent public display.

Fireworks are a great way of brightening up the long winter nights, but as the people of God, we also believe in a greater light. No-one's asking you to give up fireworks or other social pursuits, but would you be willing to also invest a little in God's mission too - much less each month than the price of a small box of fireworks. A regular donation to Home Mission of only £5 a month can make a real difference to local churches in NWBA and help us begin new outreach initiatives. If you can spare a fiver a month can we count you in? Please visit our website to find out more.
