

Booking your holidays?

January is traditionally that time of year when many people in the UK begin to plan and book their summer holiday. And why not? We all work hard enough; we deserve a break. The average UK resident spends £363 each year on domestic holidays alone; the vast majority of us take at least two holidays per year. A couple or family are likely to have to find well over £1000 for a holiday abroad.

There's nothing wrong with enjoying a good vacation, but if you can afford to go away, could you also afford to give £5 this month to Home Mission? We're not asking you to give up on your summer sunshine, just to make Christian mission important too. A regular gift of £5 per month from every member and regular attender from this church would make a real difference to mission in the UK
