

Some draft thoughts/questions

1. Hold the space:

What are the potential highs and lows, joys and sorrows, losses and gains in your congregation?

What will be important to your congregation as you begin to think about coming back together?

What are the things you need to do for yourself in order to be able to hold the space for others?

2. Seek shared understanding:

What do you think is the purpose of your church?

How might that differ from those in your church?

How can you facilitate a discussion so that you gain shared understanding?

3. Create a learning environment:

How might you encourage people to experiment by trying something new?

What are the things that you've learned as a church over lockdown that you might want to put into practice?
